

Free menstrual products now available

The COVID-19 pandemic has had a serious impact on financially vulnerable students. In light of this, Tohoku University in cooperation with Sendai City will distribute free menstrual products to assist students who are having difficulty purchasing them.

For your privacy, the products are packaged in a completely opaque bag. There is a limit of one pack per person. They will be distributed while supplies last.

(If supplies run out, check the below Sendai City website.)
